Headline:
Another day of frequent showers, some heavy and thundery.

Today:
Showers rapidly form through the morning, these heavy at times and possibly thundery, with risk of hail. However, patchy cloud allows for some sunny spells throughout the day. Similar conditions to recently, slightly drier in the west of the country. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining showers will gradually ease through the evening, as they clear eastwards, giving way to a largely dry night. Cloud continues to break up, leaving some clear spells overnight. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tuesday:
Similar conditions to today, with sunny spells and scattered showers, these developing quickly through the morning, some possibly thundery. Showers then gradually easing through the evening leaving a dry night. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Further showers Wednesday, though lighter and less frequent. Turning unsettled Thursday, with strong winds and rain arriving westwards. Staying wet and windy Friday, with a risk of thunder.
